ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A reversible cooling loop for a notebook computer is described. Specifically, at low power levels, a two-phase fluid cooling loop is implemented to conserve the battery life. At high power levels, a refrigeration loop is implemented.